 Today's Shed Focus

1 Update Pipeline — Last Data is 6+ Weeks Old
Pipeline snapshot is from Feb 16. TJ: drop a quick update on how many quoted leads are still active and who's close to closing. This helps Franklin optimize ad copy targeting.

2 Post This Week's Marketplace Ads (Apr 1-6)

7 ads + 3 IG posts ready at: deliverables/shed-marketplace-ads-mar31-apr6.md. Themes: April Fool's, tax refunds, tariff urgency, Easter prep. One ad/day. IG on Tue/Thu/Sat.

3 Follow-Up on Aged Leads

Leads going cold from February quotes. Use tariff urgency angle ("lumber/steel costs rising") to re-engage. Template available — ask Franklin to draft 3-5 personalized follow-up texts.

💡 NEWS & IDEAS

Tariff Anniversary: Small Businesses Paid $36K+/Month — Service Businesses Are Immune

One year after "Liberation Day" tariffs, product-based small businesses are getting crushed — $36,000+ per month in extra costs, debt taken on just to survive. But here's the flip side: service businesses like Tidy Tails pay zero tariffs. While your shed-selling competitors deal with lumber/steel price pressure (USE THIS), your pet waste business has a structural moat. Pure service = no supply chain, no tariff exposure. Lean into this. As product businesses raise prices, service businesses look even more stable and affordable.

Business Ideas for TJ

Yard & Driveway Pressure Washing — "Tidy Everything" Bundle

You already have a truck in residential neighborhoods every week. Pressure washing is a $0 startup if you rent equipment to start (~$60/day), or ~$800 to buy a solid unit. Bundle with Tidy Tails: "Poop + Power Wash" once a month — $99/month vs. $75 for waste alone. Customers already trust you in their yard, upsell is easy. St. Louis spring demand is high (deck season, driveway salt staining). 5 bundle customers = +$120/mo with zero new acquisition cost.

Pet Waste Station Supply Service for HOAs & Parks

HOAs and apartment complexes are required to maintain pet waste stations — bags, dispensers, disposal. Most managers hate dealing with reorders. You offer a monthly subscription: you show up, restock the stations, collect waste, done. $150-300/location/month. You're already calling these same contacts for cleanup contracts. Bundle it. One Sentry Management account (32+ HOAs) = potentially $5K+/month on this alone. Low labor, recurring, zero customer acquisition cost since they're already in your pipeline.

Tasks Franklin Could Handle for You

1. Build Automated Lead Response System (Text + Email)

Every time a form fills out on tidytailsstl.com, auto-send a personalized SMS within 60 seconds. I can map the flow, write the templates, and configure the trigger. Studies show 78% of leads buy from the first responder — we're leaving this on the table.

2. Draft 10 Personalized Follow-Up Messages for Aged Shed Leads

Give me the names/details from Salesforce (or just a list) and I'll write individualized texts using the tariff urgency + financing angle. You copy, paste, send. 15-minute task becomes a 2-minute task.

3. Design Review Funnel Landing Page + QR Code for Yard Signs

Create a print-ready QR card that points to tidytailsstl.com/review, styled to match your yard sign. Every customer visit becomes a review opportunity passively. Zero ongoing effort from you or Jamie.

4. Research & Write Bark in the Park Vendor Booth Strategy Doc

Deep dive on 2025 Bark in the Park attendance patterns, booth layout best practices for service businesses, giveaway ROI, and a scripted 30-second pitch TJ and Jamie can use at the booth. Ready before you get approved.

🌐 AI Security Landscape — This Week

🔴 Anthropic Source Code Leak — Today (April 1)

Bloomberg reported Anthropic accidentally released internal source code for Claude AI Agent. Anthropic stated: "No sensitive customer data or credentials were involved." This was a release packaging issue (human error), not a breach. No action required on your end — but worth watching for follow-up disclosures.

⚠️ MCP Vulnerability Surge (Bessemer VP Report)

Model Context Protocol (MCP) vulnerabilities, prompt injection attacks, and data exfiltration through AI assistants are the #1 cybersecurity concern for 2026. Our setup doesn't rely on MCP externally, but avoid connecting new untrusted MCP servers without review.

⚠️ AI Discovering Vulns Faster Than Defenders Can Respond (CyberScoop)

Top security experts warn AI is finding vulnerabilities "exponentially faster than defenders can respond." Maintain auto-update policy on OpenClaw. Our overnight update cron is doing its job — keep it running.

✅ Required Actions

✅ No immediate action required.

OpenClaw is on latest patch (2026.3.31). All 4 known CVEs patched. Monitor Anthropic communication for any follow-up from today's source code release. Keep overnight update cron active.
