CALL SCRIPTS

OPENING — APARTMENT COMPLEX / PROPERTY MANAGER

"Hi, can I speak with the property manager?"

[When connected:]

"Hey, my name is Jamie — I'm the owner of Tidy Tails STL, we're a local pet waste removal company. We work with pet-friendly communities throughout St. Louis County and St. Charles County. I noticed you have a dog park and I wanted to see if you're currently using a professional service to keep it clean, or if that's something your maintenance crew handles."

[Let them respond. If no service:]

"We do flat-rate weekly service — no contracts, no surprises. Would you be open to a quick quote? I can have something to you today."

OPENING — DOG DAYCARE / KENNEL

"Hi, is the owner or manager available?"

[When connected:]

"Hey, I'm Jamie — I run Tidy Tails STL, a local pet waste removal company. We work with a few dog daycares and kennels in the area to keep their outdoor areas clean. I also wanted to see if you'd be open to a referral partnership — your boarding clients need yard cleanup at home, and we offer them a discount when they come from you."

OPENING — VETERINARY CLINIC (REFERRAL PARTNER)

"Hi, can I speak with the office manager?"

[When connected:]

"Hey, I'm Jamie with Tidy Tails STL — we're a local pet waste removal company based in Florissant. I'm not looking to sell you anything — I just want to drop off some cards for your waiting room. Your dog owner clients might find us useful, and we give 10% off the first month to anyone referred from your clinic. Could I swing by sometime this week?"

OPENING — HOA MANAGEMENT COMPANY

"Hi, I'm looking to speak with whoever handles vendor services or property maintenance contracts — can you point me to the right person?"

[When connected:]

"Hi, I'm Jamie — I run Tidy Tails STL, a professional pet waste removal service. Pet waste in common areas is one of the top HOA complaints we hear about. We work with communities throughout St. Louis County — weekly cleanup, flat monthly rate, no long-term contracts. Do you have any communities currently looking for a solution like that?"

 HANDLING GATEKEEPERS

"What's this regarding?"

"I'm a local vendor reaching out about pet waste removal services for the property. It'll be quick — just 2 minutes."

"They're not available right now."

"No problem — what's the best time to reach them? And could I get their direct email so I can send some info ahead of the call?"

"Can you call back?"

"Absolutely. I'll call back [specific time]. Can I get their name so I can ask for them directly?"

"We're not interested."

"I totally understand. Out of curiosity — is it that you already have a service, or you handle it in-house? I just want to make sure I'm not calling at a bad time for the wrong reason." (Get info — don't argue.)

"Just send us an email."

"Happy to. What's the best email, and who should I address it to?"

"We already have someone."

"Good to know. Are you happy with the service? I ask because we're local and we've picked up a few properties where the previous company was inconsistent. No pressure — just good to keep a backup."

 Gatekeeper Rule: Always get a name, always get a callback time or email. Never hang up empty-handed. Even a "call back Thursday at 2pm" is a win.
