

TIDY TAILS — SEASONAL AD PACK

Father's Day Ad Pack

Sunday, June 21, 2026 | Deployment Window: June 1–20 | Created April 2, 2026

4 paid ad variations + 4 organic posts + customer referral texts + A/B test plan

All ads: (314) 850-7140 — Jamie, local owner | tidytailsstl.com

Why This Pack

Primary buyer: Wives/partners buying for the dog dad who handles yard cleanup. Father's Day is the #2 gift-purchase moment for home service businesses. The emotional hook: "He's done it every Sunday for years without asking — give him the one gift that eliminates the chore permanently."

Paid Ads (Facebook + Instagram)

Ad #1 — "He Got the Dog" ★ PRIMARY

Organic Posts (Facebook Groups + Nextdoor)

Organic #1 — Facebook Groups (June 1–7)

Looking for a Father's Day gift idea for the dog owner who has everything?

My husband is the default pooper scooper in our house. Has been since we got the dogs 3 years ago. Every Sunday morning. Without complaint. (Mostly.)

This year I got him a Tidy Tails membership. Weekly dog waste removal, flat $70/month, the first cleanup was free. Now he actually enjoys Sunday mornings.

Not a sponsored post — just sharing because I wish I'd done it years ago. Their number is (314) 850-7140 if anyone wants it.

Organic #2 — Nextdoor (June 7–14)

Father's Day gift idea for the dog owner in your life:

If there's a guy in your house who handles the yard cleanup every week — Tidy Tails does weekly dog waste removal in our area for $70/month flat. First cleanup free, no contract.

My husband has been doing it every Sunday for 3 years. Getting this set up for him was the best thing I've done for our marriage this decade.

(314) 850-7140 — they text before they come and after they finish. Highly recommend.

Organic #3 — Last Call (June 14–18)

Father's Day is Sunday. Dog dads still do the cleanup.

If the dog dad in your life does the weekly yard cleanup — Tidy Tails removes dog waste weekly at a flat $70/month. First cleanup free, no contract.

It's the gift that eliminates an actual weekly chore. He'll notice immediately.
