

Telegram Topics Setup Guide

Separate your businesses into organized channels — 5 minutes to set up

What This Does

Telegram "Topics" turns one messy chat into organized channels — like Slack but in Telegram. You'll get a dedicated space for Tidy Tails, Sheds, Daily Accountability, and more. Franklin responds contextually in each one.

✔ No more scrolling through shed talk to find dog waste leads. Everything stays in its lane.

Setup Steps

1 Create the Group ~1 minute

1. Open Telegram → Hamburger menu (≡) → New Group
2. Name it: "HQ" (or "Command Center" — whatever you want)
3. Add the Franklin bot as a member (search for the bot username)
4. Tap Create

2 Enable Topics ~1 minute

1. Tap the group name at the top → Edit (pencil icon)
2. Scroll down → Toggle Topics ON
3. Save

3 Create These 5 Topics ~3 minutes

Tap the "+" button in the group to create each topic:

#	Topic Name	What Goes Here
1	 Tidy Tails	Leads, customers, marketing, scooping schedule
2	 Sheds	TuffShed quotes, ads, lot updates, lumber news

3	 Daily Accountability	Morning briefings, EOD recaps, task tracking
4	 Franklin Admin	Agent status, system stuff, skill updates
5	 MOTRA	Autonomous vehicle venture (parked for now)

4 Tell Franklin ~30 seconds

1. Send a message in each topic (anything — even "test")
2. Come back to this DM and tell Franklin: "HQ group is ready"
3. Franklin will grab the IDs automatically and configure everything

 Pro Tip: Pin a brief "what goes here" message in each topic so you remember the purpose when scrolling fast.

What Changes After Setup

Before	After
One chat with everything mixed together	Separate channels per business

Franklin guesses which business you mean	Franklin knows by which topic you're in

FAQ

Can I still DM Franklin directly?

Yes — this DM stays as-is. The group is in addition to your current chat, not a replacement.

What if I message in the wrong topic?

No big deal. Franklin will still respond. Just move the convo to the right topic when you can.

Does this cost anything?

Nope. Telegram Topics is a free feature. No extra API costs either.
